

SECTION TWENTY

QUICK REFERENCE SHEETS

These sheets are designed for easy access while writing. Fill them in as you complete other sections, then keep them accessible during drafting.

How to Use This Section

When to fill this in:

- After completing each section of the workbook, transfer key answers here
- Before starting to draft, review and complete any gaps
- During drafting, update with new details you establish

How to use while writing:

- Keep these sheets open (printed or in a separate window)
- Check before writing any scene: Are my details consistent?
- Add new details in “Things I’ve Established Mid-Draft” as you create them

The goal: Never pause mid-scene wondering “how does this work?” or “did I establish this?” The answers are here.

(Reminders, inconsistencies caught, things to fix in revision)

YOUR ANSWER

THE INTEGRATION MANTRA

---

Reference: Section 16, Web of Systems

Every worldbuilding element should do at least two of these:

1. Push characters together OR pull them apart (ideally both)
2. Create opportunities for intimacy OR obstacles to overcome
3. Force meaningful choices with real costs
4. Have consistent rules the romance works within
5. Matter to both the fantasy plot AND the relationship

If an element doesn't do at least two of these, cut it or strengthen it.

FINAL CHECKLIST BEFORE DRAFTING

- ☐ World at-a-glance complete
- ☐ Character details consistent
- ☐ Timeline established
- ☐ Magic rules clear (including what magic can't do)
- ☐ Bond mechanics defined, if applicable (consent, rejection, limits)
- ☐ Key locations defined
- ☐ Religion/belief system sketched (if relevant to romance)
- ☐ "Why now?" catalyst identified
- ☐ Obstacles identified with worldbuilding sources
- ☐ Power dynamics mapped
- ☐ Economic ledger understood
- ☐ Choice moments identified
- ☐ Climax integrates romance and fantasy
- ☐ Consistency rules clear
- ☐ Integration Score completed (Section 16)
